January 29, 1929.

Inquiries go to show that Kang Chang Ze (姜昌济) who resides in the French Concession boarded the train which was due to leave Shanghai North Station for Nanking at 11 p.m. on January 25 and while seated inside was accosted by a Chinese who inquired if he was Mr. Kang. On his answering in the affirmative the Chinese requested Kang to meet a Japanese friend who was waiting on the platform. Kang complied with the request and was immediately taken into custody by Japanese Consular Policeman Yokoda on a charge of murder and robbery. Kang complained that he was a naturalised Chinese and called one of the railway police to whom he explained matters. Both Kang and the Japanese Consular Policeman were then escorted to the Paoshan Road Police Station, Chapei where the latter officer demanded that Kang be handed over on the charges for which he had been arrested. The Chinese authorities refused to hand Kang over and the Japanese consequently left. Kang was detained over night in the Paoshan Road Station and released on January 26. It is reported that Kang Chang Ze (姜昌济) is a naturalised Chinese citizen and until his arrest was employed as a detective attached to the Third Section of the Civil Department of the Kiangsu Provincial Government.

NOTORIOUS KOREAN DESPERADO ARRESTED AT NORTH STATION
BY RAILWAY GUARDS AT THE REQUEST OF JAPANESE POLICE

The Shanghai Nichi Nichi and the Shanghai Mainichi publish the following report:-

On the night of January 25 a squad of detectives attached to the local Japanese Consulate went to the Shanghai North Station in the hope of arresting a notorious Korean named Tsiang Hwa Tsao (曹 華祖), alias Tsiang Chong Che (姜 昌濟), alias Tsiang Tung Yoh (姜 東郁) who is wanted by the Japanese authorities for the murder of another Korean on Hannan Road some time last year and also for several other murders perpetrated in the French Concession as well as for several robberies.

Tsiang, who had apparently been forewarned, cleverly eluded the Police cordon and managed to enter the station compound where he hurriedly bought a ticket and boarded a train bound for Hanking. The Japanese Police thereupon lost no time in getting into touch with one of the responsible railway officials who kindly instructed the railway guards to remove Tsiang from the train.

Tsiang is now in the custody of Chinese Police who are reluctant to hand over the prisoner to the Japanese authorities despite their repeated representations.

Local Chinese newspapers published this news yesterday, but they were greatly exaggerated.

Recently Tsiang graduated from a Chinese Detective School and has ever since been posing as a Chinese, claiming to have been naturalized as such.

Besides being one of the leaders of the so-called Ping Ying Volunteer Corps, a radical organ of recalcitrant Koreans, Tsiang is also said to be responsible for the two bomb incidents at the local Japanese Consulate in April and September 1926. Many of his accomplices in numerous cases of murder and robbery are either serving terms of imprisonment or are under trial.

It has been learned on a Japanese newspaper website since April 1996 of alleged murder of Korean who was shot on "Yamato" island, Hiroshima district. The murder is alleged to have been the sequel to a quarrel between the Koreans regarding anti-Japanese activities. It is also supposed of its wholesale transportation of four Koreans, who were transported in the French ship "L'Amiral". The main charge against them is that they had the intention of kidnapping the Japanese citizens and taking them to their country.
